Trade Review.

A very large proportion of the business men in this country began the year with the belief that we had seen the end of har I times and that there would be an immediate improvement in trade. Some of those who looked for improvement lost their courage because very little gain was perceptible during the spring. Now that mid-summer is past and we are on the verge of the fall and winter trade, it is well to inquire if the prediction of the new year was substantially correct. Prices have apparently touched bottom, and saids from the bad business methods, which are always causing failures, there is no reason for insolvency. Last fall we were just emerging from eight months ago. The farmers will be free buyers of staple goods this fall and will have ready money to meet payments. This state of affairs will make trade in the smaller towns much better, and the wholesale trade and the manufacturers will be greatly benefitted. Prices are already stronger in nearly all branches of trade and there is a general upward tendency.

The gain in textiles has raised the price of mill stocks, and it is estimated that the securities of the Fall River companies are worth in the market from two to three million do!lars more now than the middle of last month, Even better reports come from the manufacturers of woolen goods. Most of the mills are in operation either in part or entirely, and is maintained, so far as mercantile business is concerned, and there is a gradual increasing demand for money all over the country. Regs, $3 30; fuse, per 100 feet, 500. Lead—Bar, $1 65. While nowhere is there any considerable ad-

done on a much more extensive scale than last year and dealers of all classes are buying heavily and not from "hand to mouth" as it were. The part week has been an exceptionally good one for nearly all lines of business; and many good one for nearly all lines of business. done on a much more extensive scale than a great majority of the country merchants attending the fair bought large bills of goods. Sugars have advanced during the past few days and there is a general upward tendency in prices. Commission merchants, dealing in produce, have not done s much busicess the past week as usual, owing to the number of farmers who rushed in their produce during the fair week and literally glutted the market. The corn market has been growing stronger and corn is now worth 33c in car-load lots, and sales of single ency. Last fall we were just emerging from "hard times." No one could tell whether the season was past and great anxiety prevailed in every part of the country. A great many fallures occurred during the fall and first quarter of the present year, but more recently the insolvency list has grown shorter and there bave been (1) res. So far as statistics are obtainable, the surplus of manufactured commodities has been consumed, and most industries are now at a point where they will be governed directly by the demand. The condition of the farmer generally and the western farmers in particular is much better than was supposed possible six or eight months ago. The farmers will be free

While nowhere is there any considerable advance in rates, the absorption of idle funds is such as to encourage lenders to believe that there will be a rise in rates as soon as the fall business is fairly in progress.

The outlook for a rood local trade was never better. With the opening up of new lines of railroad and the formation of settlements tributary to Omaha, it would be surprising indeed if the wholesale trade of this c ty did not improve rapidly. Business this season is done on a much more extensive scale than
